About

Eleven years in hospitality operations, the last two running marketing for a small restaurant group after I asked to move across. Looking to make the switch permanent. I am aware I am light on some of this and would rather say so than pad the CV.

Experience

Marketing Lead · The Tamarind Group (4 restaurants) · New Delhi · Feb 2024 – present

- Asked to take marketing on after running operations for the group. It is me, a part-time designer and a photographer we book monthly.
- Our blog and recipe pages had never been touched since the site launched and sat at about 2,000 sessions a month. I learned enough SEO to rewrite the twelve pages we already half-ranked for and build out a Delhi dining guide series. We are at 19,000 sessions now, and reservations from organic have gone from a handful to about 90 a month.
- Write everything myself. Menus, emails, the site, the Instagram captions. No agency and no budget for one.
- Send a monthly newsletter to 8,000 people. It is one send, not a programme. I have never built an automated flow and would need to learn it.
- Run Instagram for all four restaurants, about 31,000 followers combined, up from 19,000.
- Report to the owners monthly on covers, spend and what I would do next.

- Opened two further sites, including hiring and training 60 staff.
- Managed supplier contracts worth roughly ₹3.5 crore annually.
- Held our licensing and food safety compliance across all sites with no adverse findings in five inspections.
